ALL

THE WORLD'S A STAGE

FOREWORD

"All the world's a stage and all the men and women merely players . . ." With this quotation from Shakespeare in mind, we present to you FINALE: curtain going down on Act Four of the play of our high school years. But the finale of a play is not really the end; the play will be presented again and again, with a different cast, perhaps, and in many different places. And what about the members of this cast, the class of 1957? We will go on to new and different dramas. Some will try out for parts on the stage of the business world; others, college, the professions, or military careers.

Here in Punchard, we have learned some of the fundamentals of knowledge and living. This book presents some of the highlights and dramatic moments of the four act play. There are the star players, the character actors, and the many supporting players, all working together to make the four years a memorable production.

We hope as you leave Punchard that the friends you have made, the experiences you have shared, and the learning and growth you have acquired will be something you can look back on with pleasure as you make your entrance on the larger stage of life.

PUNCHARD HIGH SCHOOL

PUNCHARD HIGH SCHOOL has long been a source of pride to its students and to the people of Andover. Since the year 1957 is the finale for Punchard as the high school of Andover, as well as the finale of our high school years, we, the class of 1957, wish to dedicate this yearbook to PUNCHARD and all it has stood for throughout the years.

PUNCHARD ODE

Our dear Alma Mater, Fair Punchard, all hail!
In faith ever filial and true,
Our pledge of a love for thee never to fail,
Again hand in hand we renew;
To thee in the spirit and light of the hour,
This oasis green of our way—
All gemmed with bright stars of our hope in the flower,
We bring a fresh garland today!

FACULTY

Mr. Edward Erickson

Your theme, "All the World's a Stage," suggests the parallel that exists between your period of preparation here at Punchard and the rehearsals for a successful play. Much the same qualities are required in both situations.

The discipline of the theatre teaches fundamental values recognized since the days of the Greek dramatists, an age which, incidentally, produced great philosophers and thinkers.

In the theatre, it is not enough that one know his lines—essential though this is. There is other knowledge that must be gained and exercised. There is the necessity for teamwork. One learns that the starring roles are limited in number, but that the supporting cast is important too. Poise, competence, and a good perspective are attributes which serve equally well, on or off the stage. More important still is the subordination of self; "the play's the thing," and not the individual's part. Finally, there is the deeply ingrained determination that finds expression in the phrase "the show must go on."

These are some of the accomplishments I hope you have acquired in your rehearsal for adult life. Over and above the subjects you have pursued, your teachers have endeavored to impart to you these other values that will stand you in good stead as you step forth on a broader stage. My best wishes for a long and successful career.

EDWARD ERICKSON,
Superintendent of Schools

"BON VOYAGE, SENIORS"

It is time for you, like ships, to leave the home port and set sail for other harbors over uncharted seas. Your pilots will be dropped, and you will be plotting the courses for yourselves.

Some ships will find stormy weather and others will have calmer seas. You, as ships, may long for the security of the sheltered harbors of home ports; but you must have faith in yourselves and sail on.

Increasingly, the happiness and welfare of others will depend upon your skill and faithfulness in charting a true course. For three years at Punchard you have been getting ready to take these responsibilities for others, and they will be trusting you to be prepared.

We wish for you smooth sailing to ports of greater opportunity and the lasting satisfaction that comes from having achieved a goal.

R. R. Williams says:

"One ship drives east, another drives west
While the selfsame breezes blow;
'Tis the set of the sail and not the gale
That bids them where to go."
"Bon Voyage, Seniors."

PROM COMMITTEE

Standing: S. Nadeau, J. Sullivan, T. Stefani, F. Leone, S. Bird, J. Sullivan, J. Winters, A. Benedetti. Seated: E. Barsamian, M. Ortstein, S. Ritchie, J. Cairns, M. Heseltine.

Our junior year was climaxed by the annual Junior-Senior Prom, entitled "Song of the South." Under the direction of our chairman, Sandra Ritchie, and our advisor, Miss Frances Collins, we all worked hard on the decorations and the preliminary plans. The setting was pictured as a plantation on the Mississippi River with a steamboat and dock on one wall. Other motifs included magnolia blossoms, swans, the front of a mansion complete with pillars, and a two-tone blue ceiling which camouflaged the gym equipment very successfully.

The grand march was carried out without mishap, and a wonderful time was enjoyed by all. The crowning of the queen, Milly Tangney, was the perfect ending to a perfect evening.

Standing: F. Leone, F. Polgreen, B. Flynn, W. McCullom, C. Dalton, C. Bowman, R. Paolino, D. Best, D. McIntyre, G. Higgins, P. Miles, B. Gilcreast, R. Bachmann. Seated: B. Kelley, G. Klein, S. Bird, P. Lewin, M. Tangney, R. Crawford, L. Cotter, M. Heseltine, E. Dwyer, S. Ritchie.

On April fifth and sixth we presented our class play entitled "Many Happy Returns." This was an unusual senior event as in past years it has been the custom to hold a stunt night or talent show. Since the play was a tremendous success and a welcome change in the course of events, we hope that it will become a tradition.

The plot was based around a crotchety old man, played by Ted Dwyer, who resented the idea of celebrating his one hundredth birthday. His daughter, portrayed by Gail Higgins, and his three granddaughters were also leading characters. Of course we shouldn't forget Bob Crawford and Danny McIntyre who portrayed two very eligible bachelors.

The members of the cast will long remember the many rehearsals under the able direction of Mr. Bachmann, to whom we are deeply indebted. The numerous committees also deserve much credit for a job well done.

CLASS WILL

Friends, classmates, and whomever this document may concern: you have been summoned here as beneficiaries under the last will and testament of the Class of 1957 of Punchard High School, Andover, Massachusetts.

Be it remembered that we, the Class of 1957 of Punchard High School, Town of Andover, in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, being of sound mind and disposing memory, do hereby make this our last will and testament, revoking all wills by us at any time heretofore made.

We bequeath our most prized possessions to the following lucky people:

To all underclassmen, we will the final exams while we leave for the beach—no "sweat" kids.

To the class of '58 we leave the new high school which we were never able to attend.

To the class of '59 we leave a couple of horse shoes to bring good luck to all in their remaining years of high school.

To the class of '60 we leave a few encouraging words. "Nothing is as bad as it may seem."

To Ben Thompson, Patience Lewin bequeaths her chauffeur's license, which he will probably put to good use.

Sandra Savinelli leaves her study habits to Judy Young.

Barbara LeGendre leaves her neat appearance to Edie Leidich.

To Priscilla Reynolds, Susan Bird bequeaths her gold keys.

Alan Cate generously consents to leave Punchard High to anyone who wants it.

Donny McBride wills his subpoena to Bob Currie.

Betsy Gilcrest bestows her path to Tyer Rubber to anyone who wishes to follow it.

To Mr. Danforth, Brenda Kelley takes great pleasure in leaving a dirty test tube to add to his collection.

Linda Fisher bequeaths her white shoe polish to Sheila Lobick to use on her sneakers.

To Barbara Curran, Milly Tangney leaves all her Student Council and Class "minutes."

Allen Ober wills his red hair to "Pop" Deyermund, who doesn't need it yet.

Janice Cairns bestows her ability on the gym apparatus to Janet Skulski.

Not to be out done, David Daniels wills his ability on the highbar to Jack Fitzgerald.

Danny McIntyre bequeaths a total of five packages of chewing gum to Miss Stevens, who, he is sure, will appreciate it.

Marilyn Campagna and Arthur Walsh leave their salesmanship books to George Adyns. With both of them, George, you certainly shouldn't fail.

Mary Ellen Winters wills her talkativeness to Janice Snow.

Jimmy Winters leaves his many exams to Gordon Schwartz.

David Belka wills his seat on the basketball bench to Jimmy Richardson, who we hope will not have to use it.

Also, may it be known that Linda Barrett leaves her "gift of gab" to Bonnie Bubar, who seems to be well equipped to carry on where Linda left off.

Elizabeth Barsamian wills her gym suit to Lois Bennett for further exhibition.

Leland Scott leaves to Stevie McKittrick his usual calmness before a football game when the kicking tee has vanished.

To Janet Skulski, Jane DesRoches leaves her job.

Anne Benedetti wills her cheering uniform to Marilyn DeMoore for future use.

Jidd Platt leaves his football shoulder pads to John Cavallaro.

Sally Howard bequeaths her seat in the Shawsheen Luncheonette to Linda McCarthy.

To any ambitious junior, Jane Hall bequeaths her "yearbook" typewriter in Miss Dugan's room.

Norma DeMoore wills her flirtatious ways to Bev Sparks.

John Hawes has generously consented to leave all his answers to Frank Donahue.

To the junior class we have taken the liberty of leaving Lynne Cotter's ambition, which we certainly hope they will put to good use.

Sandra Ritchie wills her battered Crosley to the Andover Fire Department, which seems to be attracted to it.

Tito Stefani leaves for Florida, where it's warm.

To Jimmy Clegg, who's always looking for a ride, Evelyn Richmond leaves her car.

Barbara Swanton wills her pony tail to Carol Becotte.

Wally Runge bestows his "gangstermobile" to "Goose," Randy Gesing.

Frank Rees bequeaths all his letters in sports to Joe Laurenza.

To Russ DesRoches, David Perkins leaves his whistle.

Fred Polgreen leaves his injuries to "Stretch" Pearson, who has quite a few now.

Elaine Whitney wills her bumps and bruises to any junior girl taking Phys. Ed.

Virginia Stansfield, not to be out done in generosity, bequeaths her report card to Betty Campbell.

Gayle Richardson leaves the boys from Methuen to Sheila Lobick.

Stuart Troop leaves his job in the auditorium to Stevie Black.

Grace Klein bequeaths her sprained back to Miss Collins.

To Dottie Byrnes, Joan Marchand leaves her job of passing out paper in typing class.

Barry Flynn's generosity has urged him to leave his diet to John Tombarelli.

David Pacheco wills a home-cooked meal at Lee's to John Shanteler.

Bob Millay has consented to will his car to Eddie Munroe, who certainly could use it.

Ruth-Ann Greenwood leaves her parking space in front of school by the little tree to Alan Nowell.

Betty Heinz wills her loquaciousness to Mary Taylor, who really doesn't need it.

Also be it known that Bill McCullom leaves his seat in Room 28, sixth periods, to Ted Sutton for future use.

Joe Sullivan wills his track equipment to Bob Mehlhouse, in hopes that he will make good use of it.

Ray Paolino leaves his arguments in all his classes to Richard Chase to add to his collection.

Ted Dwyer wills his dynamic personality to Calvin Metcalf.

John Santuccio wills his collection of broken test tubes and thermometers to future chemistry classes as an example of what can be done with a little effort.

To Craig Roberts, Carl Swenson bequeaths his many joke books.

Sheila Titmas leaves her sister, Joan, to "carry on!"

Anne Perry wills her history book and notes to Sheila Serio.

To Barbara Curran, Jackie Smith leaves her quiet ways.

Joyce Sullivan, with hopes that her bequest will be used to the best advantage, leaves her band uniform to the next head majorette.

To Janet Skulski, Sandra Dulong leaves her job at the Youth Center.

John Dumont wills his tremendous height to Jim Bennett.

Not to be surpassed by the boys, Barbara Harrison wills her height to Judy Young.

Bob Crawford leaves P.H.S., but not Mary.

To some enthusiastic underclassman, Barbara Colby bequeaths her "soda jerking job."

Bootsie Bowman wills his ability in geometry to Mr. McIntyre for future use.

Ralph Buschmann bequeaths the mile to someone else foolish enough to run it.

To Gran Cutler, Ralph Arabian leaves his "camel-taxi."

David Best leaves all his "borrowed" athletic equipment to Mr. McKiniry and Mr. McIntyre . . . for a price.

Jimmy Butler leaves his chickens to Miss Hawkesworth for use in her future biology classes.

Sandra Nadeau bequeaths her short haircut and a pair of scissors to Melva Penny.

David Morin leaves her nickname "Dave" to Mr. McIntyre.

Robert Mills has consented to leave his hair to Mr. March.

Penny McGrath bequeaths her gym clothes to any girl in the junior class.

Frank Leone bequeaths his darkroom technique to Phil Colquhoun . . . for a commission.

Betsy Caswell leaves Mr. Igoe's problems class . . . to the lucky members of the junior class.

Carol Desrocher leaves office practice to Mary Boloian.

To Johnny Giovinco, Barry Benson wills his collegiate clothes.

Bucky Dalton wills his little black book to Frank Carelli, who does pretty well without it.

Sally Bilodeau leaves her homeroom desk in room three to Patricia Burns.

Gail Higgins leaves her job in the cafeteria to Margaret Nicoll.

Deanna Hudgins, with the knowledge that her bequest will be used to the best advantage, wills her saxophone to Joan Ellen Simeone.

Jack Reilly leaves "nothin to nobody."

To Arlene Kneath, Margaret Bouleau bequeaths her old Bermuda shorts and knee socks.

Dante Fiorillo leaves his briefcase to Jerry Fleischli, who can use it to carry his physics formulas.

Peggy Cronin wills her Harvard boys to Priscilla Terrio.

Christa Hahnenstein leaves her "id" to Mr. Igoe for future use.

Marilyn Heseltine wills her debating seat in Mr. McIntyre's geometry class to Marly Freeman, who is well equipped to carry on where Marilyn left off.

Sandra Macauley leaves.

Phyllis Miles has consented to leave to Tommy Brucato all the candy bars which she didn't sell.

Marge Ortstein leaves her little "Nash can" to Morrissey Taxi Co.

To the teachers, we the class of '57, leave our sincere thanks for all the help they have given us.

We hereunto set our hands, and in the presence of these witnesses declare this our Last Will and Testament on this first day of June in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and fifty-seven.

RING COMMITTEE

Standing: Alan Cate, Joseph Sullivan, Charles Dalton, Ralph Arabian, Barry Flynn, Sandra Ritchie. Seated: Gail Higgins, Marjorie Ortstein, David Best, Chairman, Sandra Nadeau, Carol Desrocher.

When we came back to school as Juniors, we brought plenty of enthusiasm, experiences to tell about, and plans for the year ahead. We entered the football season with Joyce Sullivan leading the band, and many of our boys doing very well on the team. We won the Erickson Trophy at the Methuen game, beat North Andover on Thanksgiving morning, and the team elected Bucky and Bill as co-captains for our Senior year. We then began thinking as a class and called a class meeting to discuss our financial status, which wasn't very healthy if we wanted to have a prom. We raised our dues and tried to think of some money-raising activities. The answer seemed to be a Fudge Sale, conducted on a door-to-door basis. Tito Stefani was elected chairman, and the candy was ordered. Meanwhile the Ring Committee was picking out rings that would satisfy everyone.

It doesn't sound as though we did any studying, but we were knee deep in homework every night, a source of complaint from all. We were learning to "enunciate" in speech classes, to memorize names and dates in history, and to mix certain chemicals to get that "rotten eggs" odor that everyone liked so much when it came filtering through the ventilators.

Christmas, New Year's, and Mid-years passed with unbelievable speed, and we had another "spirited" class meeting. We volunteered our cars and our time for the fudge sale, and for three nights we all met in the parking lot and set out selling the candy. That was the easy part, for then we had to go over the same routes and deliver the fudge. It was good to see the class working together as a group, and then having fun dancing in the parking lot, or having a toboggan party at the golf club, with food at the "Jug" before, during, and after

Then, September—again—and we found ourselves in Punchard at last, as honest-to-goodness sophomores. Jim Winters and Davida Morin were our representatives in the Goldsmith Speaking Contest—Jim won the boy's prize. We had a new classmate—Petesy Marker—who played Cupid to several unlucky souls, planned many of our good times, made friends with everyone, and then moved to California at the end of the year. He was greatly missed by all. That season Bill McCullom, Bucky Dalton, Tito Stefani, Petesy Marker, Don McBride, Ed Munroe, Jack Reilly, and Bert Damon were our contributions to the football team. There were many parties and hayrides that year, and we held a snowflake dance to raise some money for our scanty treasury. Did anyone ever count the hundreds of snowflakes we made? We participated in the Student Council's first Tag Days, and we carried one another's books around for two days. Then our basketball team got a bid to the Tech Tourney, and in we tramped to Boston to see the Blue Devils play. They lost, but we consoled ourselves with thoughts of next year. In the spring, Sue Bird won third place in the Barnard Essay Contest.

With the warm weather, tennis and baseball became our prime diversions from homework; another diversion—for the girls—was babysitting. We helped put out the last issue of the school newspaper, took our final exams, and headed for the beach at every possible spare moment during the closing days of the school year. We were on wheels now, for quite a few of us had our licenses. We said goodbye to Petesy Marker; and after a few last minute details were cleared up, such as attending school for the last few days, going to graduation, etc., most of us left for our first summer of working, another step on our road to maturity and independence.

every gathering. We sold an enormous amount of fudge and also had a good time. Do you still have some undelivered fudge in your cellar, too?

Bill McCullom was elected captain of the basketball team of '56-'57, the Service Club was awarded a citation for its wonderful work, and the Junior Red Cross had an active year. Sue Bird won the Barnard Essay Contest, and we found that it was time to plan the theme, decorations, music, and invitations for our prom, under the direction of our chairman, Sandra Ritchie. The decorations, carrying the theme, "Song of the South," successfully camouflaged the gym; the girls all looked pretty; the boys, handsome; and the music was enjoyed by all. Millie Tangney was chosen queen, and really looked the part.

The excitement died down and was swallowed by the gloom of exams. The class of 1956 graduated with due solemnity, books were passed in, report cards were passed out, goodbyes were said, and we once again dispersed for the summer.

So now we were seniors. Strangely enough it wasn't such an impressive feeling after all! We were beginning a busy and decisive year, with boys and girls alike sporting "Ivy-League" clothes. Another fad, Elvis Presley, was rocking the music world with "Heartbreak Hotel" and "Hound Dog," much to the pain of the parents. Some of our boys lost their licenses due to overboisterousness on a certain evening in October. Linda Fisher, Barry Benson, Sandy Stewart, Milly Tangney, Donald McBride, and Fred Polgreen frequented the local hospitals for various reasons, mostly for appendicitis.

We saw President Eisenhower get re-elected in a campaign which prompted many class discussions and debates. We watched the Suez crisis carefully, and did all we could to help the rebelling Hungarians.

At the Tenney football game, we watched Methuen students tear down our goal post; but we did the same to North Andover on Thanksgiving. We had formed a Press Club to publicize our activities in the local papers, and our newly formed newspaper staff worked hard to get out the four copies of The Punchardonian on time.

Under the leadership of Bucky Dalton at a class meeting, we decided to have a class play instead of the usual Stunt Night. Betsey Gilcreast and Phyllis Miles ably assisted our director, Mr. Bachmann.

Many of us went through the torture of College Boards and personal interviews, while others lined up jobs with future employers and Uncle Sam. Now that we are making plans for the long years ahead, and remembering all the happy and sad events that have gone to make up our high school days at Punchard, we would like to thank those who helped us along, all through the years. First there are our parents, who have always been there when we needed them; then, our teachers who have done their best to see that we are prepared to face the cruel world; the guidance counsellors, who have given much of their time to our problems and our futures; and most of all, our fellow students who have supplied the friendly smile when it was needed, the companionship when we were lonely, and the feeling of belonging when we felt out of place.

Thank you, Punchard High School, for an education, for the background you gave us as we were growing up, and for all the wonderful memories we have collected in the past four years.

SOPHOMORES

This year our class is getting into the swing of things here at Punchard High School. Under the direction of Mr. McIntyre, we have managed to accomplish quite a bit in the time we have been here, and we have experienced the fun of planning and participating in school activities.

At the first class meeting we raised our dues to six dollars per year, and received many other suggestions for raising money. One suggestion was that we have a bakery sale, which we proceeded to do on November 21 at Hill's Hardware Store. The sale, under the direction of Carol Winkley, was a tremendous success.

On January 24, we held our first high school dance. It was called "January Jump" and was under the capable direction of our social committee chairman, Betty Campbell. The music was supplied by Mike Gavin. Since this was the first dance after mid-year exams, many students were present.

Plans are now being made for our second dance of the year, the "Spring Swing," which will be held March 29. The decorations will be of lilac and white streamers, and a popular disc-jockey will provide the music.

We have had a very profitable year, and the class has shown great interest in participating in the various activities. In the future, we plan to have a paper drive and another bakery sale. We all hope that these projects will be as successful as our first ones.

JUNIORS

The class of 1958 has been very well organized and very active. In our sophomore year, with Mr. McIntyre as our capable advisor, we sponsored many money-making activities which built up our treasury considerably. We held a paper drive, a bottle drive, two dances, a few bakery sales, and we sold candy at the basketball games, and pennants during lunch periods.

In this year alone, we have had a bakery sale in Cole's Hardware Store, a class dance, and we have sold pennants in school, and candy and cokes at the basketball games. Another dance and a paper drive are planned for the latter part of this year.

At the time of this writing, we are planning the Junior-Senior Prom to be held in June. James Clegg has been elected chairman. There will be a change in the usual prom procedure. The schedule is as follows: from 8:00 to 8:30, reception; at 8:30, the grand march, followed by dancing; at 11:30, the crowning of the queen. At this time, the entire group will leave the dance and meet at the Hillcrest Country Club for dinner and entertainment, which will prolong the festivities until three o'clock in the morning.

We have worked on all of our projects, knowing that the end result will be worth the energy. We are now looking forward to our senior year, when we will have the distinction of being the first class to graduate from the new Andover High School.

SERVICE CLUB

The Service Club, under the direction of Miss Frances Collins, has had another very successful year.

The aims of the Service Club are to promote citizenship and courtesy in the school and community, and to aid organizations in Andover and surrounding communities.

Our Community Service Committee and Production Committee constructed a Nativity Scene which was displayed in front of the auditorium during the Christmas holidays. Shortly before Christmas, members of the school and the townspeople enjoyed carol singing around the creche. At this time also, members of these committees were engaged in making favors for the North Reading Sanitarium, as they were for Valentine's Day in February. An article and a picture concerning this activity were submitted to the Massachusetts Dental Hygienist's Bulletin. On March 9, thirty-five of the girls in the club volunteered their time, free of charge, to baby-sit during the Town Meeting.

The main purpose of the Student Service Committee is to welcome new students to Punchard, and to send cards to students and teachers who are absent because of a long illness. The members of the School Service Committee were messengers for the clinic, assisted in the Polio Clinic, and prepared material for the patch tests.

As we complete another year, we hope the future members of the Service Club will realize the importance of "service to others."

The new members of the Punchard Chapter of the National Honor Society were initiated during a very impressive ceremony in February. They were elected by the faculty and the two-year members of the society. The qualifications for membership in the society are scholarship, leadership, character, and service.

The Honor Society held a dance and participated in a Hungarian Relief Dance which was sponsored by the Honor Societies in the surrounding schools.

All members realize that their election into the society is the highest honor that the school can bestow.

SPORTS

The Blue Devils started the 1956 gridiron season with a bang. They emerged victorious in four of their first five games. Then the axe fell. Several key players were lost to the team as a result of injuries. Despite this unavoidable football handicap, Coach McIntyre led his Blue Devils eleven to a winning season.

Punchard boasted a fast, versatile backfield composed of speedsters Bert Damon and Boots Bowman, and pile drivers Jim Bennett and Turk Reed.

Up front in the line, paving the way for the backs, were Co-Captain Bill McCullom and Dave Pearson, our pass-snaring ends. In the bulk of the line were Tito Stefani, Wally Runge, Fred Polgreen, Jack Reilly, and Co-Captain Bucky Dalton.

The student body contributed much enthusiasm to all of the games as they cheered our boys on to a five-four season.

TRACK

Because of the great success of last year's track team, the Blue Devils had a lot to live up to this year. Veterans were Captain Ralph Buschmann, an outstanding miler; and Bert Damon, a speedy dash man.

This winter in the Boston Garden, Ralph Buschmann and Jidd Platt, a shotputter, placed in their events. Just missing were dashmen Ted Sutton and Boots Bowman.

The Blue Devils always have a fine array of trackmen, and this year was no exception.

BASEBALL

This year the Blue Devils, led by Captain Boots Bowman, are a major threat to the Merrimack Valley Suburban League. Under the guidance of Coach Bob Collier, the Blue Devils nine emerged with a 9-3 mark last year to gain second place in the league. Later, they lost a heartbreaker to Woburn in the Eastern Massachusetts play-offs.

The 1957 season has great potential, for the team has seven veterans returning, including the entire infield of John Giovenco, Bill McCullom, Glenn Williams, and Jack Reilly; the two veteran fly chasers, Dave Best and Captain Bowman; and on the mound, Fred Polgreen.

Back Row: D. Belka, C. Dalton, D. Best, F. Leone, A. Damon. Front Row: J. Bennett, F. Polgreen, W. McCullom, Capt.; G. Williams, J. Giovinco.

BASKETBALL

This year the Blue Devils, led by Captain Bill McCullom, participated in its eleventh consecutive Eastern Massachusetts Basketball Tournament. The team, made up of Captain McCullom, Fred Polgreen, Jim Bennett, Glenn Williams, and John Giovinco, compiled a record of 13 wins and 6 losses. PUNCHARD also had a strong bench, upon which Coach McKiniry relied in some of the games. Among these boys were Bert Damon, Bucky Dalton, Dave Best, Frank Leone, David Belka, and Bob Shaughnessy.

GOLF TEAM

This coming season promises to be one of Punchard's best for the golf team. The team, still holding its best golfers from last season, will receive top pointers from "golf-pro" Joe Wright.

In previous meets, the boys have done exceptionally well. Last year's season wound up with 5 wins and 4 losses. Tommy Hale, golfer and patriot, will undoubtedly be missed by the team. With Jimmy Richardson as captain, the team is destined for success this spring.

Back Row: C. Becotte, T. Brucato, C. Barrie, P. Alden, S. Clift, N. Heseltine, B. Campbell.
Front Row: A. Benedetti, Capt. Golden.

One of the requisites of a winning athletic team is a good cheering section. This past year, our cheerleaders were relatively inexperienced, and therefore had difficulty in arousing "School Spirit" among the student body.

Many successful rallies were held throughout the football and basketball seasons, and the peak of enthusiasm was reached when over fifty cars joined the team and the cheerleaders before the North Andover football game. As a result, the boys won the game in the midst of loud shouts of approval from the fans. All of the cheerleaders hope that the "rah-rah" spirit will increase twofold next year.

GIRLS' SPORTS

Throughout the season, a total of thirty-six girls took part in soccer and basketball. They played two games of basketball with Reading High School, and one with a Catholic Youth Organization in Lowell. The high scorer for the season was Lois Bennett.

Over twenty girls reported for volleyball, and a large number for softball. The girls would like to thank Miss Sally Marshall for her excellent coaching, and Patty Ball for her efficient job in managing.

GYM TEAM

During the past three years, Punchard has again brought physical education into prominence.

In 1954, after an absence of four years, Donald D. Dunn, our Director of Physical Education, created a second exhibition gym team. With the able assistance of the Physical Education Practice Teachers, a large number of those who responded were selected for exhibition work.

Exhibitions were held for Parent Teacher's Associations and for entertainment. Among the many were those presented at St. Ann's Orphanage, Shawsheen School, Boxford, and Wakefield. Informal meets were held at Wellesley and Gardner.

Emphasis has been placed on co-ordination, control, and accuracy. As a result of this fine program many of our students have entered colleges which offer this type of training along with their regular activities. The gym team has been an inspiration for all of us, for we realize that physical aptitude is a great asset.

CLASS PROPHECY

At the Punchardonian Airport built by John Dumont in North Andover, we boarded a new superjet constellation designed by Leland Scott. The plane's mechanics were John Santuccio and Frank Rees. The stewardess welcoming us aboard was Betsey Gilcreast, and she said that the pilot was Dave Best, the co-pilot was Boots Bowman, and the navigator was Robert Mills. Once we were airborne, we had a chance to notice some of the other passengers. Two famous nuclear physicists, John Hawes and Stuart Troop, were aboard, on their way to Washington to receive recognition from President Paolino for their work with strontium. Their secretaries, Jan Cairns and Jane DesRoches, were busy taking dictation on a new theory. Dante Fiorillo, now with the F.B.I., was recording every word with his Co-Opagram, invented by David Daniels.

As Sandy Dulong was watching the scenery from one window, Frank Leone was trying to get a good shot from another of Ralph Buschmann running the four-minute mile in Madison Square Garden, thousands of feet below. Enjoying the company of our old friend, Petesy Marker, were Tito Stefani and Wally Runge, who were on their way to Atlantic City where they were judges in the Miss America Contest. We overheard them say that Joyce Sullivan was to be one of the contestants.

We fastened our safety belts and prepared for a rough landing due to the heavy fog over New York City. We could hear Jack Reilly's voice leading us in over the radio, and soon we were safe on the ground. We drove to the hotel in the Hale taxi, and Tom told us that Barry and Jerry Flynn were making a career of the Armed Forces. He also said that Dan McIntyre was a chaplain in the same division that Tom Heard was with in Germany. We then came to a halt in front of the Winters' Hotel, which was under the management of Jim and Mary Ellen. Hurriedly saying goodbye to Tom, we entered its ultra-modern lobby where we were greeted by Carl Swenson, the desk clerk. As we signed the register, we noticed that our classmates, Barb LeGendre and Sandy Nadeau, were occupying the suite adjacent to ours. Upon further inquiry, we found that they were both happily married, and were awaiting the return of their husbands from the Silver Sweet Fudge Convention. As dinner was now being served, we immediately went to the dining room where we were joined by Ted Dwyer and Bob Millay, who presented us with tickets to the new Broadway spectacular, "Hard Punch," starring Bob Crawford in the role of a top notch executive. Bob, as you probably remember, was in the cast of our class play. Bob and Ted also told us that the play was written by Davida Morin, and produced by Phyllis Miles. Our conversation was interrupted when our waitress, Barbara Harrison, approached the table. We were all surprised to hear that she was now a professional waitress, and was married to the head chef, Dave Pacheco. After an enjoyable meal, we crossed the street to Barbara Swanton's department store. We noticed a great commotion inside, and found Dr. Barry Benson treating Fred Polgreen, the store's manager, for a broken leg. It seemed that while Fred was running through the sporting goods department, he had tripped over Jidd Platt, who was teaching his son how to punt. After the commotion had subsided, we left for the theater. Anne Benedetti, who happened to be passing by in her racing red MG, offered us a ride. During our conversation, we learned that Joe Sullivan, now a prominent lawyer, was defending the new owners of the Little Brown Jug, Patience Lewin and Jean Fisher, who had been charged with disturbing the peace. Police Inspector Penelope McGrath was also on the case, so we knew that they would win the verdict.

Upon reaching the theater, we saw Milly Tangney stepping out of a solid gold Cadillac, driven by Ralph Arabian, her chauffeur. Opening the theater door was a man wearing a black coat who cast a strangely familiar shadow. Who could it be, but Donnie McBride! Standing in line at the box office were Marilyn Heseltine and Margaret Bouleau with their fourth grade classes. Many of their students were sons and daughters of our high school classmates: namely, those of Elaine Whitney, Sheila Titmas, Sally Howard, and Carol Desrocher. A group of registered nurses was also present. Among them were Barbara Colby, Betsy Caswell and Joyce Jennings. They were accompanied by Barry Benson's medical secretary, Sally Bilodeau. As the audience took their seats, the lovely Power's Models Norma DeMoor and Evelyn Richmond entered the theater, wearing Max Freedman's luxurious new fur creations, which were made from the minks raised by Grace Klein and Betty Heinz.

As the curtain opened, we noticed more Punchard grads on the stage. Gail Higgins was cast as a talkative divorcee, with her latest flame played by Bucky Dalton. Lynne Cotter was the private secretary of the lead, Bobby Crawford, and Peggy Cronin played the dignified aunt of the happy-go-lucky singer, Gus Walsh.

The stage crew also contained some of our former classmates: Art Walsh was director of lighting and Allen Ober was technical supervisor. Allen had graduated from M.I.T. with Sandra Savinelli, and was living in Greenwich Village with his lovely wife, Linda Fisher, and their three little red-heads. When the final curtain came down, we decided to walk back to the hotel. The adjacent building housed the Sue Bird Art Studios, and we could see several modern paintings hanging inside. Liz Barsamian and Anne Perry opened a shop next door which specialized in girls' gym suits. On the second floor was the office of Ginny Stansfield, psychiatrist; she is still helping people with their problems!

We stopped for a cup of coffee in the drug store on the corner, and noticed that Linda Barrett and Marge Ortstein were working at the fountain, and Dave Perkins was the Pharmacist. They told us that when Chris Hahnenstein was covering the news in the hills of Afghanistan, she met Deanna Hudgins and Brenda Kelley drilling for uranium on an expedition led by that famous geologist, Alan Cate. Ruth-Ann Greenwood was working in the bank that was handling the money from the uranium mines, and Jackie Smith was running the insurance company on the edge of the jungle. Jane Hall was a secretary for the same company.

We noticed Gayle Richardson talking to some boys from Methuen in the rear of the store, and Marilyn Campagna was in the telephone booth, talking with some friends in Lawrence who told her that Jim Butler had just become president of Essex Aggie. While we were sitting there a little Crosley drove up onto the sidewalk, and parked in front of the store. Naturally, Sandy Ritchie was the driver. A siren was heard, then a crash, and Dave Belka climbed out of the Fire Department jeep to check on how much damage he had done to Sandy's car. It wasn't too serious, so they came in for a cup of coffee, and we had a nice talk with them. Dave said that he had been on the way to a fire supposedly in the penthouse apartment of Sandy Stewart, but it turned out to be a false alarm. Sandy had just been appointed United States Ambassador to Scotland, after many years in the Senate.

We returned to Andover the next morning, thinking about the next class reunion, and how pleasant it would be to see the old gang again.
